Oklahoma Contemporary announces new board members

OKLAHOMA CITY (Oct. 14, 2014) – Oklahoma Contemporary Arts Center recently held officer elections and appointed four individuals to serve on the board trustees responsible for overseeing Oklahoma Contemporary’s mission to encourage artistic expression through education and exhibitions.

The newly elected officers are: Christian Keesee of Kirkpatrick Bank and Kirkpatrick Oil will serve as President; Todd Edmonds of HSE Architects will serve as Vice President, and Kim Bruno (United Mechanical) and Roberts Clements (Clements Foods) will serve as Secretary and Treasurer, respectively.

Oklahoma Contemporary welcomes the following new board members:

Joshua Farhenbruck, Vice President
JP Morgan Private Bank

Russ Florence. Partner, President & COO
Schnake, Turnbo, Frank

Larry D. Ottaway, Attorney
Foliart, Huff, Ottaway & Bottom

Tony D. Vaughn, Executive Vice President, Exploration & Production
Devon Energy Corporation

“As Oklahoma Contemporary continues to plan its move to the new location at NW 11th & Broadway, the role of our board of trustees is critical,” said Christian Keesee, President of the Board of Trustees. “We are excited to welcome these new board members to guide our organization, and look forward to their leadership and enthusiasm.”
